Police Learn That Little Girl Lied

Surprised to Find That One So Young Can Prevaricate Impressively—Unable to Check Up on Any Truthful Statement.

That a little girl can tell lies was startlingly revealed to the local police Friday evening, upon the investigation of a story told by a little girl who was picked up on Franklin street early Friday by Officers Reiss and Brophy.

Police headquarters was in deep quandary after listening to the heart rending story of the little girl who gave her name as Mabel Yetter and stated that she had been abandoned on the streets by a brutal father who deserted her saying that he was going to have the headlights of his automobile adjusted. The police cared for the little one and turned her over to the county agent and referred the case to Judge Fowler of the children's court.

The child also told the police that she had no mother, which made her case much more pathetic.

Investigating the case of the "abandoned girl" the revelation that a little girl can prevaricate was learned by the police, who discovered that all that the child said was not true. The information received was that the child's name was Sophie Juriviah and that she was eleven years of age and not nine. Furthermore, the sad story of her abandonment by her father on Franklin street was also false. Instead of being deserted, the child ran away from her home in Cementon. Also her father was not on his way to Albany seeking employment, being employed at present at Cementon. Her mother is also alive and living at Cementon.

Upon information received it was learned that Sophie has made a regular habit of running away and often spending the night sleeping in the woods. She has also been expelled at different times from the Cemenion school and has been caught stealing money from milk bottles. While in Kingston it is said that Sophie "worked" a lady for five dollars.

The child will be returned to her home in Cementon upon the arrival of her parents.

Mrs. Horton, who also is connected with the company, was formerly Miss Louise McCausland of Ellenville.

No better selection of a play could have been made for The Maverick than "The Old Homestead," which has delighted thousands of playgoers all over the United States, and Manager Hervey White has been congratulated upon affording the theatregoers of this city the opportunity to witness the splendid classic amid such surroundings.

It would be a difficult feat to reckon up the number of people who have seen "The Old Homestead" since its initial production at the old Boston Opera House in 1886. The count runs up into the millions, with thousands being added for every season, for "The Old Homestead" never wanes in popularity but always makes more and more friends every time it is played.

Sheldon Speaks at Local Foundry

Another meeting under the Forum of Fundamentals was held Friday in a local unit of the metal industry.

At the Kingston Machine Co., Mr. Lawton gathered his entire staff and listened to Mr. Sheldon teach the one basic law that applies to all employes and employers alike, the principle of service.

The speaker showed that the old classifications known as labor and capital are lost in the higher conception of business where the employer and employe are one in service to the true "boss," the buyer, neither one being either dependent or independent but both grandly interdependent.

After this one address Mr. Sheldon spent the remainder of the day in Newburgh, where a similar forum is being opened.

Klansmen in Another Fight

Massachusetts Stages Another Battle Between Klan and Anti-Klansmen — One Man Hurt — State Troopers Disperse Fighters.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Millis, Mass., Aug. 15.—Eight hundred Ku Klux Klansmen and anti-Klansmen engaged in a pitched battle here early today, the latest of a series of similar disturbances in Massachusetts this week.

Stones and clubs were used freely. One man was seriously injured and a score were bruised. State troopers who rushed here by motorcycle broke up the battle.

No arrests were made by the state police or by the police of this town, Medway and Medfield.

The name of the seriously injured man—a Klansman—was not learned for his friends bundled him into an automibile and hurried away in the direction of Milford.

State troopers and the police disposed the antis in one direction and the Klansmen in another.

Klansmen, minus their white hoods, had just completed a meeting in a field in the Stony Point section of the town when, police said, the antis started to storm the Klan.

Stones were flying thick and hand to hand combat threatened when a call was sent for the police by telephone.

Riding on their motorcycles into the ranks of the battlers the state troopers from the Framingham Barracks ordered all to disperse.

Police formed a line and the Klan automobiles left the field.

No Volunteers For Dry Drive

Big Business Heads Backing Out of Job—Believe Interference Will Not Help Either Prohibition or Business.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 15.—"Big business" has lost its enthusiasm for helping the government enfore the Volstead act.

Although representatives of Judge Elbert Gary's law enforecement committee of 1,000 are said to have assured General Andrews, prohibition czar, that business leaders would cooperate in the drive to dry up the United States, it was learned today that the industrial world is backing out of the job.

Officials said that important leaders of the Gary-Ford-Rockefeller type have decided that prohibition enforcement would not be improved by business interference and that getting into a "dry" campaign might not help big business.

Under the circumstances Andrews virtually has abandoned hope of getting any $1 a year men as prohibition administrators.

Andrews believes that the personnel of the new machine may be announced next week.

He will spend Sunday in conference with sixteen divisional chiefs. He is using every spare moment in an effort to perfect the new organization before September first.

Believing that the biggest concentrates of liquor are around lakes and seaports, the government will devote its immediate attention to drives in these centers.

NOTED VISITORS AT SPRINGFIELD SHOW.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 15.—John S. Martin of Toronto, Ont., Canadian minister of agriculture, will be one of the notable visitors to the Eastern States Exposition this year, word having been received from the Canadian government officials that he will attend the Springfield show in his capacity as director of the Canadian district of the American Poultry Association which will meet in Springfield in conjunction with the exposition on Wednesday, September 23.

The meeting of the First New England district of the American Poultry Association is only one of several gatherings of live stock and breed associations that will take place during exposition week from September 20 to 26, inclusive. Others include the Eastern Beef Producers' Association and the several individual breed associations having headquarters in the ten North Atlantic States.

M. F. Delano, director of the First New England district of the American Poultry Association, has called the Springfield meeting and announcement is made by Dr. Buchanan Burr of Yarmouthport that others who will participate in the program are Thomas F. Rieks of Fort Wayne, Ind., president of the national association, and Director M. C. Chapman, of the Second district.

The Eastern States Exposition will conduct its second annual poultry show this year under the supervision of Paul P. Ives of New Haven, Conn. As in 1924, the poultry exhibits will be housed in the new poultry building and in addition to the exposition show itself, there will be a separate show for the boys and girls who are poultry club members.

Farmer Killed by Chapman's Pal for Fatal Testimony

Notorious Mail Robber Given Death Sentence in Connecticut on Testimony of Indiana Farmer Who Becomes Victim of Vengeance—Murderer Escapes But Police Hold Companion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 15.—Armed posses of police and deputy sheriffs today searched the highways and by-ways of Indiana for traces of George "Dutch" Anderson, wanted for the killing of Ben Hance and his wife here yesterday in revenge for their testimony which aided in sending Gerald Chapman to the death cell in a Connecticut prison.

Charles "one arm" Wolfe, pal of Anderson and Chapman and named by Hance in a dying whisper as one of the two who shot him at his secluded farm home, is in custody.

But Anderson, declared by Hance to have been the real slayer, according to police; Anderson, called the "master mind" of one of the most daring bands of bandits in many years; Anderson, who tunneled under a fifty foot southern Pennsylvania wall to freedom, cannot be found.

No Effort to Cover Trail.

His trail led to Yorktown, Indiana, and there faded, as though he had disappeared in thin air, Chief of Police Earl Randolph of Muncie admitted today.

Anderson, the chief asserted, made no efforts to cover his trail to Yorktown, but once there he disappeared completely.

Wolfe, grilled for hours by police, maintained his innocence, despite the dying statement of Hance that "Wolfe and Anderson got me." His wife also asserted that her husband knew nothing of the murder of Hance and his wife, who were shot down in their farm home near Eaton where they had been closely guarded by friends since Hance testified against Chapman in the trial at Hartford, Conn., which led to his sentence to death.

Farmer's Testimony Influenced Verdict.

It was at the Hance homestead that Chapman sought refuge after his escape from Atlanta. It was Hance who gave authorities the information that resulted in Chapman's arrest, and it was Hance's testimony at Hartford, Conn., that was largely influential in bringing about the conviction of the spectacular bandit.

Attacked on Highway.

Hance and his wife were driving along a road near here when they were accosted by three men in a small machine. As soon as the Hances stepped out of their car, shots were fired, Mrs. Hance dropping with a bullet in her head and Hance sprang at the three men, grappling with one, supposedly Anderson.

Finally Hance broke and ran and was leaping over a fence into a corn field when one of the volleys of bullets fired at him brought him down.

Charles Cromer, a farmer, was the only witness to the shooting and it was from him the police got the story of Anderson's revenge for the "snitching" that resulted in Gerald Chapman's capture.

Only a few words were passed between the Hances and the trio that accosted them, Cromer said, but he overheard none of the conversation.

Anderson was convicted with Chapman of a million dollar mail robbery in New York and escaped from the Atlanta prison after Chapman had made his spectacular dash for freedom.

Feared Violence From Chapman Gang.

Neighbors of the Hances told police today that Mrs. Hance has lived in constant fear of violence at the hands of Chapman or members of his gang.

"Ben told the police where they could find Chapman and ever since then I have known that we will both be murdered some day," Mrs. Hance was said to have often told her neighbors.

When Hance went to Hartford, Conn., to testify at the trial which resulted in Chapman's conviction and death sentence, Mrs. Hance remained at home.

"I know if I go I will be killed on the streets of Hartford or on the witness stand," she was said to have declared.

Police officials declared today that time and again while her husband was away from home on business trips, Mrs. Hance would call headquarters and urgently request police protection.

"I know my home is being watched all the time," she told police.

"Damn the man who turned me up for blood money," Chapman said when he was captured early this year by Muncie police after Hance had told them of the whereabouts of the "prince of bandits."

Feared Chapman While Dying.

Even in his dying moments, Hance held his weird fear of Chapman. When authorities reached the scene of the shooting and asked Hance to identify his assailants, he gasped:

"He stayed at my home. I told on him. They shot me—Charles Wolf, and George Anderson."

"Did you know Gerald Chapman?" one of the officers asked.

"Don't ask me," Hance replied.

Shot to Revenge Chapman.

Hance declared that Anderson shot him to revenge Gerald Chapman, according to Cromer.

"When Hance saw me he hollered, 'I'm shot' and I asked him who shot him," Cromer said.

"Dutch Anderson shot me," Hance replied.

"Why did he shoot you?" Cromer said he asked Hance.

"On account of Gerald Chapman," Hance answered.

"And that," Cromer declared, "was the last word I could get him to say about the shooting."

A few minutes later Hance was dead.

Knew Anderson Was Near.

Muncie police today admitted they had known for several days that Anderson was in the vicinity and his capture had been carefully planned when the shooting occurred.

Police authorities hold the belief that Hance had damaging evidence of the Chapman gang's activities and this, they said, probably had some influence in the double killing.

The impelling motive behind the shooting, however, they declared, was Anderson's burning desire to revenge his "pal," Chapman, by killing the persons responsible for his present predicament.

Heavy Bail for Gangsters.

From his cell in the county jail today Wolf, held in bonds of $100,000, denied vehemently that he was with Anderson when the Hances were killed.

Marshal Booher of Middletown, Indiana, the first officer to reach the scene of the shooting, declared that Hance's dying statement named both Anderson and Wolf.

The Hance home is at Eaton, Ind., 12 miles north of Muncie. For the privilege of staying there, Chapman paid the Hances $30 a week and gave Hance all the "small change" from the numerous robberies he and his gang committed.

Then Hance told Fred Puckett, detective captain of the identity of his guest and on January 16, last, the notorious bandit was captured and taken to New Britain, Conn., given a speedy trial on a murder charge and now is awaiting execution.

Senate May Have Woman Member

Senator Ladd's Widow Likely to Serve by Appointment of North Dakota's Governor But Will Not Be Primary Candidate Next Year.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The United States Senate, which has been called the "most exclusive gentlemen's club in the world," is likely to have a woman member soon—the second in its history.

Mrs. Edward F. Ladd, widow of the late senator from North Dakota, is to be appointed by Governor Sorlie to fill out the unexpired term of her husband, according to reports reaching Washington.

The governor is quoted as stating to friends of Mrs. Ladd that "While I have not finally made up my mind to appoint Mrs. Ladd to the vacancy I am of the opinion she is best fitted to fill at this time the position left vacant by her husband."

Mrs. Ladd, if appointed and seated, will serve until March 4, 1927. State wide primaries are to be held in North Dakota in June, 1926, at which a candidate to succeed Senator Ladd will be named. Mrs. Ladd is not expected to enter these primaries.

In the history of the senate there has been but one woman senator. Mrs. Rebecca Felton of Georgia was appointed senator to fill an unexpired term of Senator Tom Watson, who died in office.

Mrs. Felton, under a gentlemen's agreement, sat in the senate as senator for one day.

President Plans Quiet Week End

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 15.—President Coolidge, buried away from world affairs high up in the Green Mountains here at the home of his 80 year old father, determined today to place all of the cares of his office behind him for the next 48 hours and spend the week end in absolute relaxation.

On Monday the solitude of Plymouth will be broken by a visit from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Senator Reed Smoot, Republican of Utah, who are coming to confer with the president about the pending debt funding negotiations with Belgium. Until then, however, Mr. Coolidge intends to divorce himself entirely from affairs of state and spend his time in visiting with his father and renewing an acquaintanceship with the surroundings in which he spent his boyhood.

Colonel John C. Coolidge is showing a truly remarkable recovery from the serious illness which threatened his life last month. He was up early this morning and in evidence around the house, doing the lighter chores. He refuses to admit that he has been ill. The town folk do not share this belief. They say he is failing and point to the absolute lack of color in his face and the drawn expression as proof.

But the old colonel just laughs and goes about his daily work as if nothing had ever happened to him.

Living Cost Up 8 3-4 Per Cent

Government Figures Show That Increase Over Year Ago—Largest Increases in Miscellaneous Commodities—Few Decreases Noted.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The cost of living continues to advance skyward.

Figures made public today by the department of labor show the general level of wholesale prices on 404 commodities rose 1.6 per cent in July as compared with June. This is the highest level reached since February, 1921. Comparing prices in July with those of a year ago, the figures show an increase of 8¾ per cent.

During July farm products showed the largest increases over prices in the preceding month, due to advances in cattle, hogs, sheep, cotton, eggs, hay, hides, milk, potatoes, tobacco and wool. On the other hand prices of corn, oats, rye, wheat, poultry, and onions averaged lower than in June.

There were increases for meats, butter, lard, oleo, cotton seed oil and oranges, which more than offset decreases for coffee, flour, cornmeal, sugar, bananas and lemons, resulting in a small net increase for the group.

In the miscellaneous commodities group, continued advances in rubber prices brought the index number for July to a point four per cent higher than in June.

In the remaining groups prices showed little variation from those of the previous month, the tendency being upward for cloths and clothing, metals, chemicals and drugs, and downward for fuels, building materials and house furnishing goods.

During the year period the largest increase was shown for the group of miscellaneous commodities, which averaged 27½ per cent higher. Farm products were 14¾ per cent higher and foods 13½ per cent higher. Cloths and clothing, fuels, building materials, and house furnishing goods showed little change, while metals were cheaper and chemicals and drugs were higher.

Narrow Escape When Car Wrecks

Mrs. Cutler Recovering From Injuries Received When Car Drops Twenty Feet Over Embankment at Port Ewen.

The condition of Mrs. Minnie Cutler was reported as greatly improved at the Kingston City Hospital this morning, and her discharge from the hospital is expected in a few days. Mrs. Cutler is suffering from a deep cut under one eye and from shock.

Mrs. Cutler was the most seriously injured of a party of six, comprising Mr. and Mrs. Cutler, their two children, Herman and Walter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toubin, all of Brooklyn. The other members of the party were discharged from the hospital Friday evening after receiving treatment for lacerations which were not serious.

The party received their injuries in an automobile accident Friday evening in Port Ewen at the top of the hill from the Rondout Creek Bridge and below the gas station. Mr. Cutler driving his Nash car attempted to avoid hitting a boy riding a bicycle at this place and ran off the road. He evidently gave the wheel a sharp turn, for in so doing the car ran over the embankment, dropping about twenty feet and pinning its occupants beneath the wreckage.

Assistance very fortunately was given immediately after the mishap and the injured were extricated from beneath the wreck. The city ambulance was called and the party was conveyed to the Kingston City Hospital where it was discovered that Mrs. Cutler was the most seriously injured. From the severe cut under Mrs. Cutler's eye it was at first thought that her sight might be impaired. Mr. Toubin received a bruise on one leg and the children were slightly cut about the face and hands. Mr. Cutler had a painful abrasion on the nose. All but Mrs. Cutler were discharged from the hospital after their injuries were treated.

The Nash car was a complete wreck, having landed on a pile of rocks. That there was not a fatality or more serious injuries received was said to be a miracle by those who viewed the scene following the accident.

The Cutler family and their friends were en route from Brooklyn to the Catskills for a week end stay. After the injured were treated Mr. Cutler stated that his wife had a purse containing $155, which was missing.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By Mary Graham Bonner

RING-NECKED PHEASANT

"My mother told me," said the Ring-necked Pheasant, "never to beat about the bush.

"She told me that was a saying that it would be well for me to remember.

"When people were told," she said, "that they shouldn't beat about the bush, it meant that they should do something in a direct fashion.

"Sometimes they were told this when they were speaking.

"'Don't beat about the bush, but come out and say directly what you mean.'

"That was what was meant by beating about the bush—not being direct about a thing.

"Well, when we fly we always fly in a straight line. We never go this way, and then that way, with turns and what not.

"We go in a straight line.

"We don't make curves and swoops and all such things. Straight ahead is our way.

"But of course we don't fly such a great deal. If we are frightened we usually try to run out of the way of harm or of whatever is frightening us

"We like to hide from danger rather than fly from it.

"We aren't great flyers. We don't like to move fast or hurry.

"We're a bit lazy, you might say.

"Now, I am a Mr. Ring-Necked Pheasant, and my other name is Mongolian Pheasant.

"I am supposed to be very beautiful. I'm not conceited about my looks.

"It seems foolish to be conceited about one's looks when the world is so full of so much that is beautiful.

"Pheasants are never the way peacocks are about looks. Peacocks are beautiful, but so are other things beautiful, and they act as though they were the only beautiful things in the world.

"When I say I am beautiful I mean that the family as a family is a handsome one, but at the same time we know there are many other beautiful objects in the world.

"I Am Supposed to Be Very Beautiful."

"I have a very long tail—about a yard long. Some of us have longer tails than others.

We like it that way. We believe in having a little variety.

"We don't want to have the same length tails—all of us just the same—we don't want that.

"Dear me, no, that would be tiresome.

"The ladies in the family always have shorter tails than the gentlemen, just as they lack our gay colorings.

"They are far quieter in their styles. But they are handsome.

"I have a white collar around my neck. I think that is suitable. I don't believe in being without my collar. I wouldn't feel dressed properly without it, and yet lots of birds don't bother about collars.

"Even some of the pheasants don't. That is why I have the name of Ring-Necked Pheasant.

"It means that I have a ring around my neck—although I usually call it a collar.

"I have, as I've said, very handsome colorings and very gay and beautiful feathers.

"We believe in variety in our coloring, too, and we don't all have just the same coloring.

"We like the states of Washington and Oregon best in which to live.

"Some of the members of the family live elsewhere and in zoos, but we are very happy wandering about these great states.

"Give us two states in which to wander, and we're satisfied.

"Shouldn't we be?

"Surely so.

"And we are.

"That we know.

"We will stay.

"We won't go!"

A Slight Misunderstanding

I was at a dinner party last February where the little boy of the house was allowed to sit at the table. One of the ladies remarked that she saw a pair of white shoes coming down First street.

After a few minutes the little fellow asked: "And was nobody in them?"

Thank You

Small Boy—Thanks for the present, auntie.

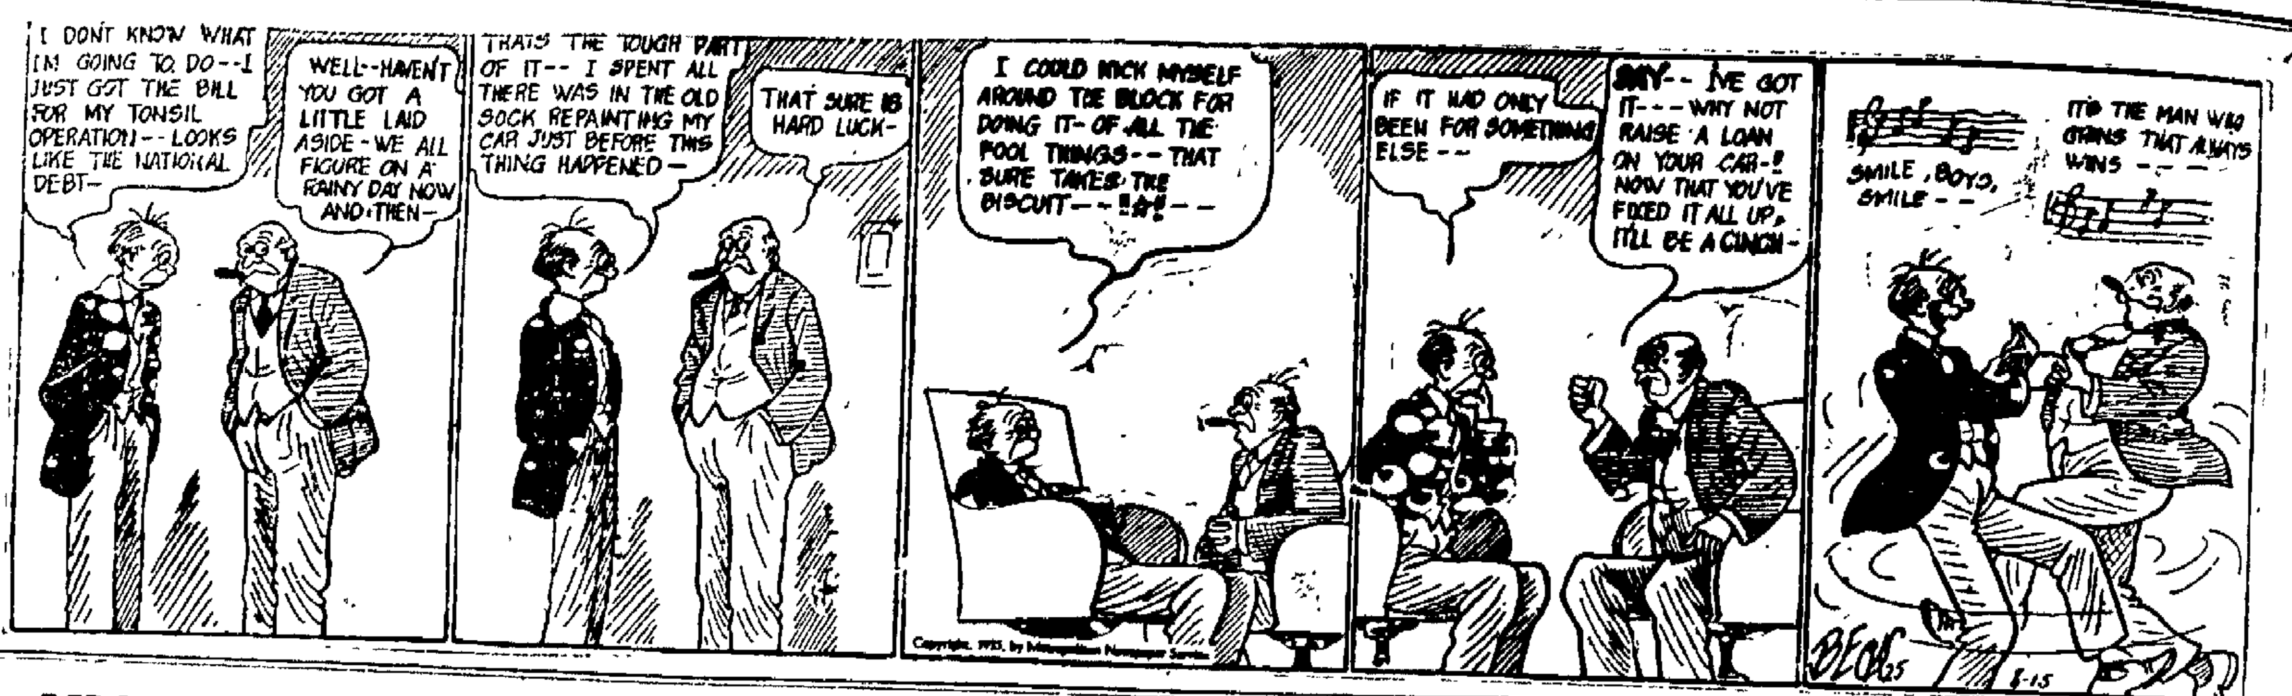

His Aunt—Oh, that's nothing to thank me for.

Small Boy—That's what I thought, but mother said I should thank you for it anyhow.—Boys' Life.

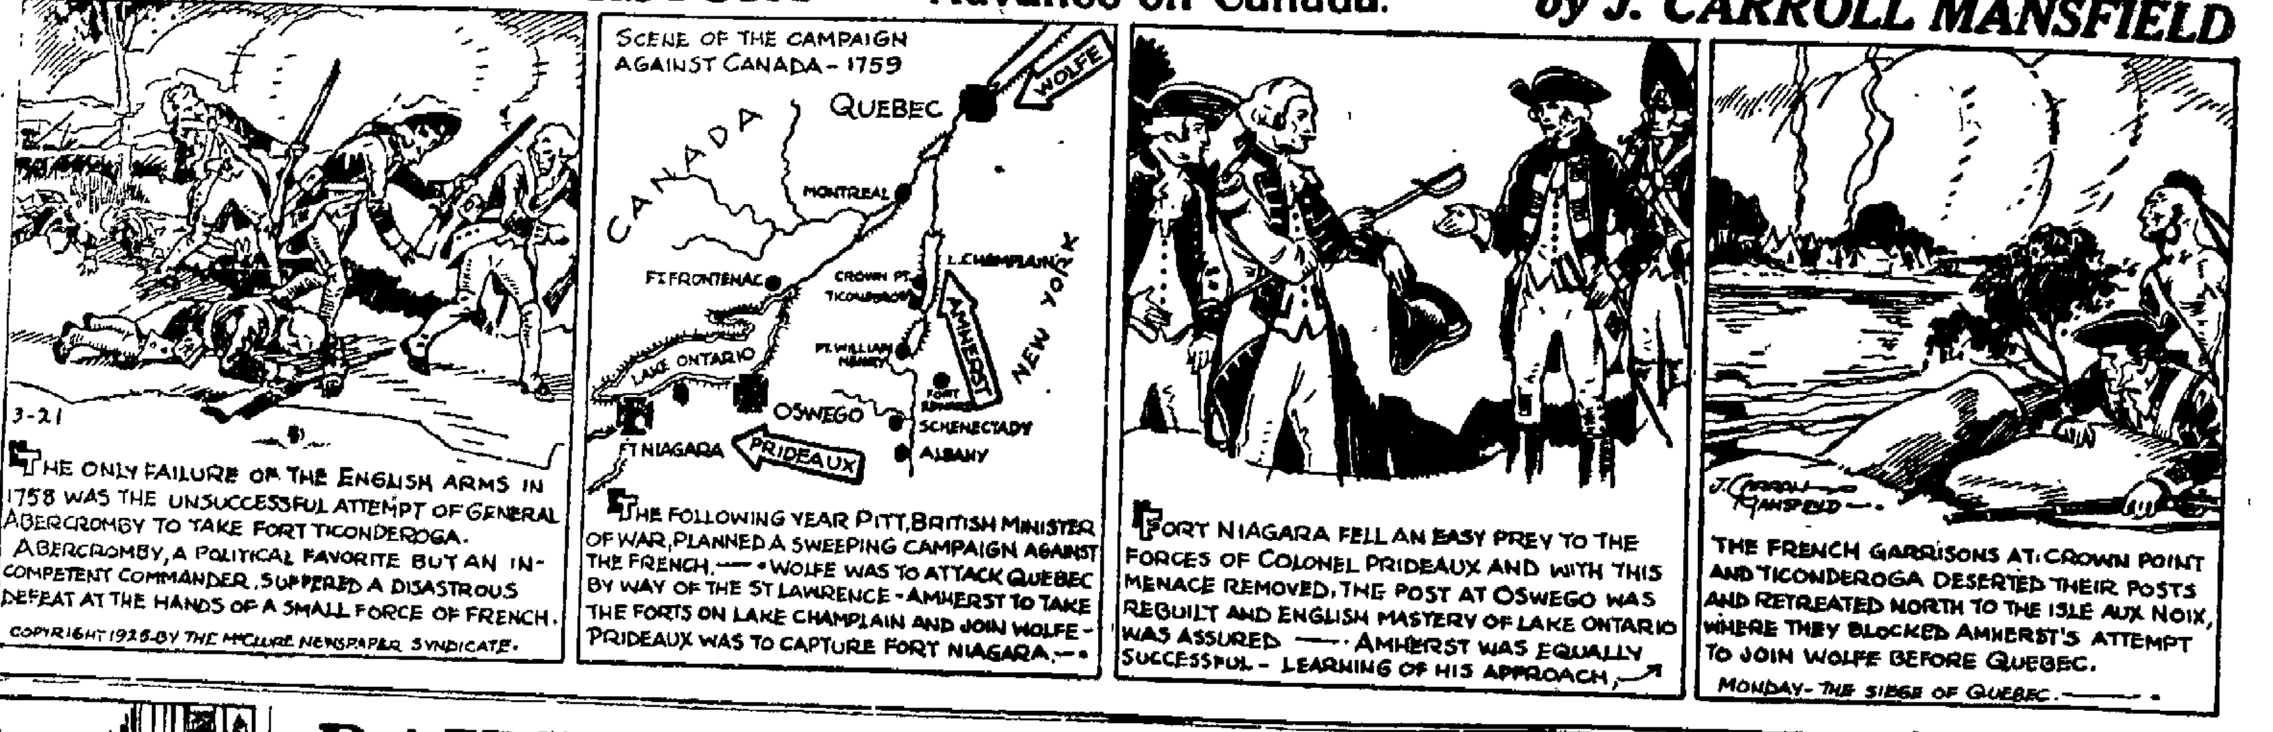

Millions Worship Lama

More than a hundred million Chinese worship the Panchan lama, the Tibetan living Buddha. This religious leader was once a poor boy of the streets and 37 years ago he was elevated to his present eminence by rites known only to the inner Buddha circles. He is worshiped as a living god.

Go to it. Even an electric button won't accomplish anything unless it is pushed. When men and women have their ideals and work in common, the world will be helped along with something like electric speed.

CAKES FOR PORCH TEAS

During the summer months cakes are served very freely and a good one is appreciated. The following are choice recipes which will add variety to those already cherished:

Almond Cake.—Cream one-third of a cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar, one-fourth cupful of milk, the yolks of six eggs well beaten, and one cupful of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder. Flavor with the grated rind of a lemon. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, add one cupful of sugar and one cupful of chopped almonds. Put on top of the cake when it is ready to go into the oven. Bake in a slow oven. This may be baked in layers and put together with whipped cream, making a very delicious cake.

Sponge Cake.—Beat the yolks of six eggs until thick, add one cupful of sugar gradually and continue beating; add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, the grated rind of a lemon and the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. When the whites are partially mixed add one cupful of flour and a little salt. Bake one hour in an angel food pan.

Rochester Chocolate Cake.—Cream one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar gradually, and then add two squares of melted chocolate, two well-beaten eggs, one-half cupful of milk one and one-third cupfuls of flour mixed and sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Beat well; add one teaspoonful of vanilla and bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. Cover with:

Ice Cream Frosting.—Boil two cupfuls of sugar and six tablespoonfuls of water to a thread. Pour the sirup gradually over two well-beaten egg whites, beat until thick, flavor with vanilla and spread over the cake.

One cupful of sugar, one cupful of sour cream and one cupful of nuts, adding the nuts after the sugar and cream are cooked until thick, makes a most delicious cake filling.

RUSSIAN TRAGEDY, ETC.

On August 15th, 1764, there occurred one of the many tragedies of Russian history, when Ivan, son of Prince Anthony Ulric, was massacred in prison by his keeper. He was a grandson of Peter the Great, and had been kept in prison almost from birth * * * Napoleon, "The Man of Destiny" and the conqueror of almost all Europe at one time or another, and after Hannibal and Caesar, the greatest military genius was born August 15th, 1769, at Ajaccio, in the Island of Corsica. Two years later Sir Walter Scott was born at Edinburgh. * * * The first Conscription Act, which laid the foundation of Napoleon's military power, was passed by the French Assembly on August 15th, 1793. * * * On this date in 1824 General Lafayette reached New York, in response to the invitation of Congress to visit the United States—he was received with the greatest honor.

PANAMA.

The first settlement in the New World was established at Panama, 406 years ago today, by Pedrarias, the Spanish governor. In exploring the Pacific coast along the isthmus the daring Spaniards discovered a small fishing village called Panama, and on August 15th, 1519, the governor established his capital there. Two years later, by royal decree, Panama was made a city and the seat of a bishop. It became the center for Spanish explorations in North and South America, many expeditions being sent out from there in search of gold.

It was from Panama that Pizarro, in 1524, began his voyage that ended in the discovery of Peru. After that a highway was established across the isthmus, following much the same route as the Panama Canal, and over this the wealth from the mines of Peru was transported to the Spanish treasure ships at the Atlantic. Small sections of this paved road are still to be seen—and if the stones could talk—what tales they could tell. In the early days Panama suffered much from Pirates—principally English Pirates—for such the Spanish classed Hawke and Frobisher, not to speak of "Sir" Henry Morgan, the worst pirate of them all—whom England, not being able to conquer—made a knight—and governor of Jamaica.

MEDEA.

Medea was the daughter of Aetes, king of Colchis. She assisted Jason in carrying of the Golden Fleece from her father.

When Medea ran away with Jason, Aetes pursued her, but, to retard her progress, she tore Absyrtus, her brother, to pieces, strewing his limbs in the way. Jason afterwards divorced Medea and married Glauce, daughter of the king of Corinth. She lived about B. C. 1228.

Euripides has written a fine tragedy on this story, in which Medea ascribes the crimes and misfortunes of her sex to laws, which obliged women to purchase husbands with large fortunes, only to become their slaves and victims.

Thought Rules the World

Think! Nothing can be gained by senseless argument and hasty conclusions. The unthinking class of people is too large now. It includes those who do not know, and therefore cannot think; and also those who do know, but do not think.—Grit.

Fruit Prices in New York Market

The New York State Department of Farms and Markets furnishes the following summary of the fruit market with quotations up to 8 a. m. Friday in the New York market:

Apples—Fancy, high colored, large, red fruit, when available this week sold well with prices being sustained without much difficulty. Ordinary and medium to small apples, which formed the bulk of the supply moved out slowly at unimproved figures. New York, Hudson Valley, per bushel basket, A grade 2½ inch, Duchess best $1.50-1.75, ordinary $1.25. Alexanders $1.50-1.75, a few $2. William Reds fancy $2-2.50. Wolf Rivers $1.50-1.75, a few $2. Wealthies $1.50-1.75, a few $2. Various other early varieties $1.25-1.75. A 2¼ inch all varieties chiefly around $1.25. Unclassified all sizes, various varieties, generally around $1. Barrelled A grade 2½ inch Duchess $4-5. A 2½ inch $3-4. Unclassified various sizes $2-3.

Cherries—Receipts falling off, from the Hudson Valley, but fair offerings were received from the western part of the state. The market ruled about steady on fancy, large, dry stock of either the red or black variety. New York, black sours, per 4-quart basket, Hudson Valley section, 90c-$1.10. Western and central New York, 80-85c.

Crab Apples—New York, Hudson Valley, various early varieties, per 12, 14 or 16-quart baskets, chiefly around 50c, some fancy stock higher and others lower.

Elderberries—New York, Hudson Valley, per bushel basket 75c-$1; per 12-quart basket 35-50c.

Grapes—Scattering lots commencing to arrive from the lower Hudson Valley district. Trade was very light and values really not well established. New York, Hudson Valley, Champion, per carrier of eight baskets, $1-1.50.

Pears—Offerings of Clapp's Favorite pears were much more plentiful during the week, but were sharply competed against by the heavy receipts of California Bartlett pears and reasonable prices at which they sold. Many Hudson Valley pears were stored by the receivers rather than be sold at present values. Hudson Valley, per bushel basket, Clapp's Favorite, No. 1, best, $1.75-2, very rarely $2.25, ordinary and undersized $1.50. No. 2 stock $1-1.25. Per double-headed barrel No. 1 Clapp's Favorite $5.50-6, occasionally $6.25-6.50, off-grade and undersized around $5.

Plums—Supplies were moderate with trade slow in a dull and weak market. New York, Hudson Valley, various early varieties, per quart basket, mostly 5c; per 12-quart basket 50-75c; per 4-quart basket generally around 15-20c; per bushel basket $1-1.25; per carrier of six 4-quart baskets 75c-$1.

SCHOOL BOY RECOGNIZED AS BUSINESS BUILDER.

Donald H. Schoonmaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Schoonmaker, of 204 O'Neil street, although only 18 years old, is local manager for the Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia in charge of the single copy sale of its publication in Kingston.

Because of the excellent record that young Schoonmaker has made, he has just been notified of his promotion to the rank of senior director in the League of Curtis Salesmen, an honor organization maintained by the Curtis Publishing Company for its more successful boy representatives.

Success in school as well as in business management is necessary for promotion in this organization, and for his present standing the young man gives considerable credit to his teachers in the Kingston High School, where he is a pupil, and particularly to Principal B. C. Van Ingen.

Donald distributes the Curtis publications in Kingston through twenty dealers, the main main ones being William O'Reilly, Andrew J. Murphy, Forsyth & Davis, E. Winter's Sons, the stationery stores, Kresge, 5c and 10c store and Epstein & Klein, the United Cigar Store. In addition he is responsible for the selection and training of a number of boys who sell the publications.

Since taking over the sale of the Curtis publications in Kingston, young Schoonmaker has increased their sale more than 25 per cent. He is making a record that has interested a number of older people in him, including the manager of the Curtis Vocational Service.

Fruit Crop Estimates

The prospects for New York state fruit for 1925 are for a crop of the highest quality of apples, pears and peaches which she has produced in several years, according to the combined state and federal crop report for August issued from the New York State Department of Farms and Markets. Although late infestation of apple scab may take place as the result of the rainy weather in late July and early August they were clean on August 1. The commercial apple crop of the state is now placed at 4,980,000 barrels, compared with 3,738,000 barrels harvested in 1924, while the total crop is placed at 23,886,000 bushels compared with 23,800,000 buushels in 1924. The combined crop of apples in Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, New Jersey, Maine, Massachusetts, Illinois and Michigan is forecast at 50,864 000 bushels compared with 60,196,000 bushels last year. Washington, Oregon and California promise a crop of 41,696,000 bushels compared with 36,870,000 bushels. The United States crop is estimated to be 161,148,000 bushels compared with 179,101,000 bushels in 1924. In the United States and in several of the states, the commercial crop runs higher than in 1924.

The peach crop in New York is now forecast at 1,986.000 bushels compared with 2,178.000 bushels harvested in 1924. New Jersey promises a crop of 1,728 000 bushels compared with 2,480,000 bushels in 1924, Michigan 588,000 bushels compared with 464,000, California 16,135,000 compared with 13,333,000, and the United States 47,385,000 bushels compared with 53,137,000 in 1924. Peaches throughout the country are much more mature than they were at this date a year ago.

New York pears now promise a crop of 2,255.000 bushels compared with 2,100,000 bushels in 1924. The Bartlett pears appear to have the lightest crop although some of the counties bordering Lake Ontario report a fair crop of Bartletts. The fruit is smooth and of good size for this time of the year. The Michigan pear crop is estimated at 810,000 bushels compared with 810,000 bushels in 1924. Washington has 1,971,000 bushels compared with 1,600,000 bushels; Oregon 1,400,000 compared with 1,225,000; aand California 6,164,000 bushels compared with 5,542.000 bushels in 1924. The United States pear crop is forecast at 17,669.000 bushels compared with 18,628,000 bushels in 1924.

The New York grape crop for 1925 is estimated at 68,353 tons compared with 80,000 tons last year. Heavy winds and late spring frosts injured the grape crop quite considerably. The states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan promise only 121,427 tons compared with 171,150 tons in 1924. California has a crop of 2,047,680 tons compared with 1,550,000 tons. The United States crop is estimated at 2,218,314 tons compared with 1,777,462 tons in 1924.

When Advertising Didn't Pay.

A farmer listed his farm with a real estate company. A week later the firm advertised it for sale. They so elaborately described the place that the farmer didn't recognize it as his own. Deciding that it was exactly what he wanted, he visited the real estate office inquiring about it. On consulting the list, the clerk discovered that it was the customer's own farm. When told this the farmer said: "Wal, I don't care to sell at all now."

Hobbies of the Great and the Near Great

Being a Series of Intimate Glimpses Into the Fads and Foibles of Well-Known Figures in National Life.

This is the twenty-fourth of a series of intimate sketches which reveal the national political figure as a "brother under the skin" to the man behind the plow, the white collar worker or the day laborer. Others will follow.

SENATOR CHARLES M'NARY.

The far flung west may have sent many "butter and egg" men to the white glare of the "Roaring Forties," but it has sent only one "prune and filbert" man to Congress.

He is Senator Charles L. McNary (R., of Ore.,) a Republican spokesman for the west and one of the Senate's farm bloc leaders. His hobby is to manage a 200-acre fruit farm near Salem, Ore., on which he raises prunes, cherries, walnuts and filberts.

As the senator says:

"I am not the butter and egg man from the west of whom you've heard so much; I'm only the prune and filbert man from Oregon."

The senator, noted nationally for his extraordinary power over congressional legislation and for his wide friendship among men of public affairs, is by no means a novice at fruit-raising. On the contrary, he ranks as one of the greatest horticulturists in the west and a veritable Luther Burbank among the fruit-raisers.

Pioneer in Industry.

So far as the filbert industry is concerned, the senator is without a peer in the nation. Indeed, he was a pioneer at the industry, and as long ago as 1916 he wrote a pamphlet on the "Culture of Filberts," which was widely circulated among fruit farmers by the Salem (Ore.) Fruit Union.

Of his pamphlet the Fruit Union's officers said:

"On account of the scarcity of literature on this subject and the fast-growing interest in this new field of horticulture, we present this pamphlet to the public in the belief that its contents may stimulate an interest in an industry destined to increase the material welfare of the Northwest country."

In connection with his prune orchard, McNary has shown amazing horticultural ability along the lines made famous by Burbank. He has taken prune trees of other brands and turned them into imperials by "top-working through grafting." To the lay mind this can be explained as growing imperial blossoms on another tree—like getting white kittens from a black cat.

Grafter—of Trees.

As a horticulturist, McNary also understands the science of "incubating" trees which fail to produce their own pollen. He will take pollen from another tree and virtually graft the pollen to the non-producing tree, so that ultimately it turns out as a large a yield as its more prolific neighbor. This is the real science of nature.

Of his hobby, McNary says:

"It is both a pleasure and a business. It requires skill, patience and hard work, and it returns the inestimable pleasure only obtained by the nature lover who works at his play."

As for recreation, when far from his orchards, the Senator plays golf and attends baseball games. On golf he explains his record thus:

"I belong to the dub class, with a score of 110. That makes me happy, though, for I've heard it said that a man who plays over 100 is neglecting his golf, while one who plays under 100 is neglecting his business. There's that satisfaction at least in playing over 100."

As a baseball fan, the Senator's one regret last year was that his own campaign for re-election to the Senate came at a time when Washington won a pennant and a world's championship. He waited nine years for the event and then missed the series.

Prestige & Profit

This is the conclusion of a Better Business Bureau that has been checking up newspaper advertising in an Eastern city.

Careful comparisons were made of advertised goods and similar lines that were not advertised.

In 95% of the cases, the Better Business Bureau reports, the advertised articles were superior in quality to the non-advertised articles.

Good news for newspaper readers—of course, but most of them know it by experience.

How about the national advertiser who is seeking that elusive thing called "prestige"?

A manufacturer's brands are in the best company when they are in the advertising columns of the daily newspaper.

Safe Drinking For Motorists

A. A. A. Launches Movement To Safeguard Health of Motorists by Marking Safe Sources of Water Supply Along Nation's Highways.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, Aug. 15.—A need long felt by the increasing millions of motorists who spend their vacation on the open road, namely, assurance of pure drinking water along the lanes of travel, will be filled as the result of a new activity launched by the American Automobile Association.

According to a statement from A A A National Headquarters today, the Association is now at work on plans for the erection and standardization of signs to indicate safe drinking water along the main travelled highways of the country These plans have been heartily indorsed by the Bureau of the Public Health Service of the United States Treasury and by the Conference of State Sanitary Engineers.

"The business of motor touring has assumed such tremendous dimensions," said Thomas P Henry, president of the A A A, "that the safeguarding of the health of the motorist as regards water supplies for his convenience and sanitary campsites is a big national problem

'At its recent meeting,' Mr Henry continued, "the Conference of State Sanitary Engineers called on the American Automobile Association to encourage or provide for the erection of 'safe water signs in the various states where examination of semi-public water supplies is made by the State Health Department"

Several of the larger A A A. clubs, including the Ohio State Automobile Association and the Pennsylvania Motor Federation are now cooperating with the state health departments in erecting signs along main highways in the vicinity of water that has received the O K of the health authorities The plan is to extend this activity to the whole country through the instrumentality of the 715 clubs flying the A A A emblem

As developed in Ohio and Pennsylvania the practice has been for the automobile clubs to erect the signs at points on the road convenient for motorists, after the state and local health officials had placed the "Seal of Safety" on the water

"Direct indication to the public of the safety of a semi-public water supply is even more necessary than in the case of a municipal or public water supply," President Henry said In this semi-public class are the roadside well, the gasoline filling station, the summer resort well, the tourist camp well, the church well and the fair grounds well.

"We are virtually a nation on wheels Close to twelve million motor tourists will take to the road this season About one-third of this number will be making their first venture. This group needs protection against contaminated water and unsanitary camps to a much greater degree than the veteran tourist

"In the past the tourist has been occasionally warned against bad water What we propose to do is substitute for such warnings definite assurance and direction as to where safe water may be found.

"How necessary the examination of water supplies used by wayfarers is may be seen from a report from one county, namely Franklin county, Ohio One hundred and fifty-three water supplies in this county were examined Thirty-eight or twenty-five per cent were found to be satisfactory. Ninety-eight or sixty-four per cent were found to have defects which could easily be corrected so as to make these supplies satisfactory and seventeen or eleven per cent were found to be of such a nature as to make their abandonment necessary

"Particular attention will be paid to roadside wells on the main through highways. Throughout the touring season it is intended that periodic examination of water supplies will be made by health officials and only with their sanction will signs be erected or removed. We are assured now that many of our clubs are prepared to stand the cost of erecting the signs at the source of supply, just as a great many of them are cooperating with state highway departments in putting up signs at danger points on the road.

"One of the big problems at the present is the small private tourist camp, that is, the camp that is not under public auspices but is set up by private individuals for the purpose of selling something to tourists. Some of these are run by farmers in places where the only source of water supply is a small stream located close by. The need of close supervision of these private touring camps, dozens of which are springing up over night, appears to me to be very urgent."

Botanical Expert

They were walking in the country one pleasant summer day and she stopped to admire a flower growing by the wayside. "I wonder," said she, "what kind of a flower that is?" She looked up at him as though he were the source of all wisdom. He was not daunted. "That," he replied with conviction, "that is the day-blooming variety."

THAT HINTS OF A REVIVAL OF PRINCESS LINES ARE BEING HEARD OF JUST NOW.

The problem of fitting having become so simplified as to be almost nil, the reappearance of the gore and the revival of princess lines strike terror to the heart of the amateur dressmaker.

All these things threaten, plus high collars and sleeves, which are complicated, even full, the fulness occurring toward the wrist.

There is a decided reaction in fashions The straight chemise or sheath gown has vanished, likewise the straightline coat Now fashion expresses herself in terms of curves or angles, curves for the cutter and angles for the trimmer being generally speaking the rule.

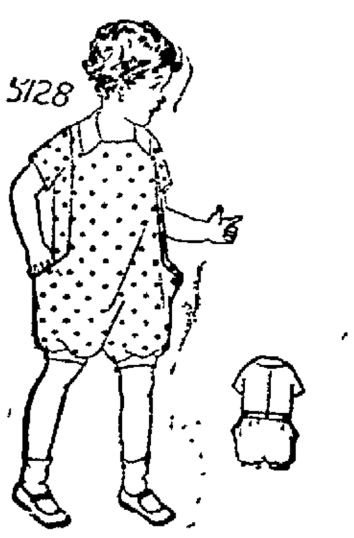

A Frock of Molded Seamings From Patou Is Developed in Maroon Roma With a Pointed Border of Velvet in the Same Shade.

One must learn again the jargon of slot seams, pleatings of various kinds, gores, godets and so on There is a decided change in silhouette, waistlines from ceasing to be have become important Bit by bit they have traveled upward, until now something like normal is the rule. Tighter and tighter have grown the lines above the waist as those below have billowed out or been restrained by pleating.

The use of two fabrics where one might serve is another note to be jotted down in readiness for the autumn questionnaire on fall fashions Velvet and crepe; velvet and cloth; cloth and crepe; satin with any and all of these are some of the combinations to remember.

EVEN big-city folks must have their "neighborhood stores"! Most of them would no more think of going down-town to fight their way through the crowds in search of a roast for dinner than they would of walking to the factory to get a pair of shoes.

City women know that their neighborhood stores can supply them just what they want — and that, in most cases, the service is more alert and friendly.

The same thing is true of this "neighborhood". Our merchants—the men whose ads you read in this paper — are in position to furnish your home with the best and most popular brands of goods. Not only can they save you money, but they gladly relieve you of a lot of worry and loss of time.

Flared and Slightly Molded Gowns Beaded and Embroidered in Delicate and Unusual Patterns Are Worn in Paris.

Rebous' Latest Novelty Is This Evening Scarf of a Square of Brocade Framed in Two Plain Colors of Satin.

A Filmy Printed Chiffon With Black Ground, and Green and Rose in the Design.

An entire absence of straight lines is one of the predictions made for fall by many of the celebrities identified with the haute couture in whose nimble fingers rests the fate of fashion.

The reception accorded pleats, godets, and gores all devices for introducing fuller lines has been so favorable that designers are daring to go to greater length or perhaps one should say breadth to carry out this program

There is no denying that "things look rather black for the woman who must make her last year's gown do There is a new look about the fall fashions which is very stimulating, but very difficult to reproduce from something old Bands of brilliant embroidery, applique or ribbon treatments are apt to occur on short, full skirts and to be repeated on sleeves which show a tendency to widening above the wrist

Boleros add zest to fashion ideas which were never more piquant and everywhere there is color and fabric contrast—the use of two fabrics being rather approved African browns and peasant tones generally have a social status only rivaled by brilliant jewel and flower tones, yet there is place in the highly colorful scheme of things for a black gown—crepe satin preferably, or chiffon—for evening.

The gowns sketched may be safely taken as indicative of the trend for fall for fashion has evidently determined to have not only its flare, but its film.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 15.—Stocks prices were irregular in a sluggish and inactive half session of the market today. Oil stocks made a moderate recovery at the opening, a few of the railroads stocks made fractional gains and industrial market leaders like Mack Trucks and General Electric sold up a point or more.

Sales in the first hour dwindled to 280,000 shares, mostly in the railroad, oil, motor and specialty stocks International Tel and Tel. sold about three points higher as a result of the announcement of its acquisition of Western Electric's foreign subsidiary. Fleischmann's advance to a new high at 103 and Cast Iron Pipe's five point jump to 162, on short covering, were the features of the specialty stocks

The low priced railroad stocks were inclined to higher price levels particularly those with merger prospects and possibilities

A number of the high priced specialty stocks swung into a more aggressive stride near the end of the first hour Westinghouse Air Brake moved up nearly 8 points Mack Trucks rose seven points and established a new high at 216½.

The oil stocks were unable to follow through the general gains made at the opening.

The market was steady in the closing period Du Pont sold up 160¾ for a gain of about seven points and a new high price record. Westinghouse Airbrake and other high priced stocks advanced in good form and United States Steel was also moderately higher. Oils were steady.

SEEKS INJUNCTION TO STOP KAPLAN-HERMAN BOUT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, Aug. 15.—Charles Cardio, manager for "Red" Chapman, claimant to the world's featherweight title, went to federal court today to seek an injunction restraining Kid Kaplan, the New York state featherweight, from entering the ring with Babe Herman, of Connecticut, in Waterbury, that state, on the evening of August 27th.

Cardio claims that he holds an agreement with Kaplan to box with Chapman. They were to meet in New York June 8th but Kaplan got a postponement on the ground of an injured hand, according to Cardio. Chapman and his manager declared Kaplan is under agreement to meet Chapman before he goes into a bout with any other pugilist.

Colonials Had A Gala Day

At the Expense of Port Jervis Friday at Fair Grounds—Seventeen Hits and Sixteen Runs Chalked Up for Locals.

The only difference between the Johnstown flood and the ball game at the Fair Grounds Friday night was that the ball game had a humorous side to it and that the Johnstown tragedy lasted longer. But the flood was much milder for the Port Jervis crew dropped in at the Fair Grounds for a little game of baseball, the same Port Jervis team that last week made the locals fight for eleven innings before they could take a mere 2 to 1 victory. The Colonials started their hit-run drive the first inning and almost every inning after that was a relapse of the first. When the washout was ended the locals had 17 hits and 16 runs.

The Port Jervis team also started a campaign in the first inning but theirs was a drive to keep the fans supplied with laughs and they also succeeded for every inning was a relapse of the first frame. When it all ended everybody on the grounds was bursting with laughter but the six or eight Port Jervis fans and the nine Port ball players who were trying to sneak out of the park unseen for the Orange county crew had thoughtlessly forgotten to make any runs.

Judge March, the same pitcher who tossed them over for the 2 to 1 game several weeks ago, started on the mound for the Port Jervis club and the four sessions which he lasted were four rocky frames. For the final four a gentleman by the name of Dunham, who started out in right field, was sent to the slab and although he had one hitless frame, his path wasn't paved with roses either, for the local sharpshooters knocked him for eight hits and seven runs.

But Judge March was treated the most brutally for he had to hurl the first frame. Peters was the first local to face march but he flied out to the center fielder. Then Kelly received a walk and Deegan followed with a single to center field. The center fielder let Matty's drive get through him and Deegan went to third and Kelly came in and when the catcher missed the infield throw Matty came in also. Ed Phelan then flied out to the second baseman. Ed was covering right field and Kinney was posted at first as Maury McDermott was unable to make the trip. McCue followed with a slam to left field. After this wallop "Then the fun began." It all started with Bill Schwab. Bill caught hold of one of the judge's favorite mixtures and swept it out of the lot. Bill came in chuckling but Paul Kinney had ideas of his own. Whether it was jealousy or just a streak of fun that struck Paul, he called to the judge to do his darndest. When March tossed the next one Paul caught hold of it and ball number 2 soared out of the lot. Five runs, two of them homers wasn't bad for the opening frame. But there were eleven more markers before the locals became tired of the sport.

Eddie Baker tossed them over for the local outfit and there was nothing to it but Eddie. Eddie started a little too lenient but after the first two frames during which the visitors grabbed three hits Eddie bore down and allowed only two hits for the final seven frames.

Johnnie Peters was the only local who didn't share in the good time had by all the Colonial batters. Not once could Johnnie connect with a safe blow. There seemed always to be somebody stationed just where he sent them. But everything Peters misesd with his bat he made up out in the field. Johnnie ran all over the diamond picking them out of the dirt, getting eight assists and picking two putouts out of the air.

For the good of the box office it would be wise not to book this outfit for the balance of the season.

Van Slyke Team Beat Universal

The Van Slyke team started off on their rampage in their initial frame, scoring three runs. The second inning the cigarmakers were quiet but in the third they resumed the onslaught, making two. Seven tallies were chalked up in the fourth and one in the fifth. The lone tally for the losers came in the last frame.

Smith hurled for the winners and allowed but two safeties. Butler was on the mound for the road machinery makers.

Tagging Major League Bases

Bluege's double with the bases disgustingly full broke up a duel between Ruether and Jones and gave the Senators a 2 to 0 verdict over the Yankees.

With the Athletics hitting with their cusomary abandon, Gray turned in his thirteenth victory of the season by beating the Red Sox 6 to 3.

The Giants finally found an innocent bystander, and while the Dodgers bystood throughout the afternoon, dashed off with two decisions 3 to 2 and 5 to 3. Scott and Bentley were just a trifle too good for the Brooklyn hitters.

Ken Williams got his twenty fifth homer with two on as the Browns beat the Indians 10 to 7 but Speece made sure that he didn't repeat. When he appeared again, he was hit on the head by a pitched ball and was forced to retire.

With Leach getting two homers, the Phils contrived to outlast the Braves from the drop of the hat and won, 11 to 8.

Pitchers were worth a penny a pound as the Pirates, in a hitting mood, took a running jump at five Red sharpshooters and won 14 to 6.

The Cubs made it two straight over the Cardinals, 7 to 4, with Alexander outpitching Mails.

NO GAME SUNDAY FOR ALL STARS

Sunday the Kingston All Stars will remain idle, their game with the Woodstock team having been called off. It was so late in the week that the management was unable to secure work for the boys Sunday.

Next Sunday they will go back to Jeffersonville where they defeated that club in June. August 30 the locals will try to take another game from the Port Jervis club. The All Stars sent this outfit down to defeat also in June.

SAUGERTIES ROAD STARS BEAT A. & H. GENERALS.

The Saugerties Road All Stars defeated the fast stepping A. & H. Generals Friday evening in a five inning game by a score of 5 to 4. The game was played on the Port Ewen diamond and was fast and snappy throughout. The battery for the All Stars was C. Staable and E. Staable and for the Generals, Brandt, Mains and Fischer. The All Stars would like to arrange games with teams of the A. & H. calibre, around Kingston and vicinity.

Horse Show at Rhinebeck Fair

Two Afternoon Performances Required for Large Number of Classes and Entries—Many Cash Prizes and Trophies.

A high-class horse show will be staged at the Dutchess County Fair, Rhinebeck. The directors of the show are Wallace W. Foster, Rhinebeck; Dr. Charles R. Eno, Red Hook; Homer Gray, Poughkeepsie. These men have long since won their spurs in the conduct of horse shows and their united efforts furnish abundant assurance of the success of this big feature at the fair.

The show will be conducted directly in front of the big grandstand where spectators will have an opportunity to observe at close range the handsome ponies, the sleek saddle horses with their skilled riders, and the spectacular jumpers. There will be 22 classes, including three championships. More than $400 in cash prizes will be awarded winners and many trophies including valuable cups donated by patrons of the event. There will be special classes for ponies to be shown by children under 16 years of age. Horses will be judged as to conformation, style, action, manners and performance. The show will be held on August 21 and September 1, the first two days, and it will require two afternoon performances for the large number of classes and entries. Entries have been received of horses and ponies from the various estates along the river and other sections of the county. Entries are not limited to Dutchess and are being received from other counties and eastern states.

The fair opens on Monday morning, August 31, and continues for five days and nights, closing at 11 p. m. Friday, September 4.

Chestnut Hill Tennis Tourney

The following are the results of the invitation tennis matches played Friday at the courts of the Chestnut Hill Tennis Club between the club of the Kingston Gas & Electric Tennis Club:

Singles.

Mills (Chestnut Hill) won from Hasbrouck (Kingston Gas) 6-1 and 6-4.

Thompson (Chestnut Hill) defeated Doolittle (Kingston Gas) 6-0, 6-2.

Doubles.

Terwilliger and Craig (Chestnut Hill) won from Steinert and Hallenbeck (Kingston Gas) 5-7, 6-0, 6-2.

Phelps and Reading (Chestnut Hill) won from Marchant and Smith (Kingston Gas) 6-1, 6-0.

The scores given indicate by no means the brand of tennis that was displayed by the invaders. Most of the games had many brilliant rallies and the Gasmen were no doubt handicapped in playing on courts they had never used before, while the Chestnut Hillers were playing at home.

The Chestnut Hill Tennis Club was organized in 1916 and is at present comprised of 18 members.

Howard Kinsey Favored.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Southampton, L. I., N. Y., Aug. 15.—Howard Kinsey, San Francisco, and George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, will meet this afternoon in the final round of the Meadow Club invitation tennis singles, with Kinsey a slight favorite. Both also will appear in the doubles final, Kinsey teaming with his brother, Robert, while Lott will be paired with B. I. C. Norton, former South African, but now a resident of St. Louis.

McTigue-Marullo Bout.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 15.—It was announced today that Mike McTigue, former world's light heavyweight champion, and Tony Marullo, New Orleans, will meet in a twelve round bout in a decision bout Friday night at the Coney Island Stadium.

England Favored To Retain Cup

Concluding Matches For Wightman Cup Will Be Played This Afternoon—British Need Even Break to Resume Possession.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, Aug. 15.—Much to the chagrin of the intelligensia, it is altogether possible that jolly old England will resume possession of the Wightman Cup in the concluding matches of the international women's tennis matches this afternoon and thus take the curse off the usual bromide of the home grounds victory.

America won, 7 to 0, at Forest Hills in 1923; England won, 6 to 1 at Wimbledon in 1924. Now, it begins to look as though the invaders will upset precedent by gaining a British decision on American turf, for they will start the final day with a lead of 2 to 1 and need only an even break on the last four matches to fall heir to the trophy for another year.

The Americans must take three of the remaining four matches to regain the cup.

In one of the matches, Eleanor Goss, American, will meet Mrs. Lambert Chambers, very British, and although Eleanor has the strokes and service of a man, she is not the world's greatest competitor. If this match is in the bag, so is Houdini. Mrs. Chambers once was within a single point of beating Suzanne, of France.

In the second and biggest match of the day, Helen Wills, is due for another sortie against Kitty McKane. They have alternated in beating each other in the past, Helen winning in straight sets here, Kitty reversing the order at Wimbledon. That would seem to forecast a decision for Helen but the writer wouldn't bet his windpippe on the thing.

The third singles match will involve Mrs. Molla Mallory and Jean Fry, who threw something of a fright into the Wills camp yesterday. This is anyone's match, with Molla not showing her best form at present.

Off-hand, the writer would venture that America must win all three singles matches to be certain of the cup. Doubles play is distinctly an English institution, and although the United States will muster its best in Miss Wills and Mary Browne, England will do likewise with Miss McKane and Evelyn Colyer. Usually the best British doubles teams is too good for the best American combination.

This, if true, would give England one of its two necessary decisions today. The other might come very well in on one of the three singles matches.
